YOUNG WOMAN SUICIDES IN SENSATIONAL MANNER

Falls Into Father's Arms as He Was Coming to Her Apartments to Make a Visit

DRANK DOSE OF CARBOLIC ACID

Left a Note Accusing Her Husband of Unfaithful- ness But at the Time He Was in Bed Asleep ---Fearful Tragedy in the Avalon.

Mrs. Eugenia Yontz, about 25 years of age, the wife of Albert Yontz, a railroadman, living in the Avalon apartment building, West Main street, committed suicide at 12:30 this afternoon, by taking carbolie acid. After swallowing two ounces she screamed at the top of her voice, and rushed to the door of her apartment and fell into the arms of her father, Chas. F. Glenn, who was at that moment ascending the stairs accompanied by his wife. Her screams attracted Dr. Farquhar who has offices on the floor below, and running up the stairs he helped carry the unfortunate woman into her apartment and laid her on the floor. He at once recognized the signs of carbolie acid poisoning and secured an emetic to counteract the effects of the drug.

Her mouth, lips and chin were burned from the drug and her sufferings were terrible. Her husband, a railroadman, was asleep in an adjoining room, and was awakened by her terrible screams as the acid began getting in its deadly work.

Just before she took the dose Mrs. Yontz wrote a letter and left it on the dining room table evidently thinking she would be dead when discovered. In that note she says she is taking a measure to get herself out of the way, as her husband of only a few months is evidently tired of her. She also stated in the letter that he was now free to go to the little girl in the other end of town. She also wrote that she hoped Father and Mother Glenn would forgive him for his treatment of her. She also begged the forgiveness of her parents for the step she was about to take. The letter at this point became very indistinct and was barely decipherable. The last paragraph said that a man by the name of White had just telephoned and requested him, Albert, to whom the letter was addressed, to come over to the Newark boarding house.

An empty two ounce bottle, which had contained carbolie acid, and a glass which she had used to drink the acid from, were found in the room. Only a few drops remained in the bottom of the bottle. The acid was purchased from the B. M. East drug store, on East Main street, according to the label on the bottle. The "poison book," in which a record of all poisons sold must be entered, shows that the liquid was purchased from the East pharmacy on December 27th.

Half an hour after Mrs. Yontz drank the acid she died in great agony in the arms of her father, who supported her while the physician used every means in his power to counteract the deadly drug. The husband came in from a run at about 5 o'clock this morning, and after kissing his wife, went to sleep, and was awakened by her cries and the rushing of neighbors about the little home. He was almost crazed by the act of his wife, and kept repeating, ished a large elm tree near the line, jumped to the pipe, burst it and set fire to the gas. The blaze could be seen all night for miles and Covington was almost without gas.

CLAIMS HE'S DEFAULTER.
Cleveland, Dec. 31.—A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Frank Vina, treasurer of a local Bohemian lodge on the charge of embezzlement. It is alleged that Vina is a defaulter to the amount of $40,000 belonging to various funds of which he was treasurer and trustee.

DENIES

THAT SHE EVER VISITED HARRISON AND IS ALIVE AND WELL AT PRESENT

NO IDENTIFICATION MADE

When Woman Who Was Supposed to Have Been Killed in New Jersey Talks.

New York, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Agnes Young, who says she is unquestionably the person referred to by Mrs. Frank Hull in the latter's identification of the corpse found Thursday in a pool on the outskirts of Harrison, N. J., is employed in the real estate office here. She is alive, well, and indignant that Mrs. Hull should have brought her name into the murder mystery. She says she knows no Charles Meyers, nor has she ever been near Harrison. She admits an acquaintance with Mrs. Hull, and expresses amazement at the latter's story. This development only deepens the mystery in the murder. The police had already issued a call for the arrest of Meyers on the strength of Mrs. Hull's identification.

ELOPER WANTS WIFE TO GET A SEPARATION

San Francisco, Dec. 31.—Rev. Jere Knobe Cooke and Florette Whaley, his pretty ward, with whom he eloped from Hempstead, N. Y., are hiding with friends in San Francisco. Their refuge is being guarded from the public, but Cooke has announced that he will return to the east with the girl and their child, and will endeavor to get his wife to obtain a divorce so he may marry Florette.

Mrs. Yontz was well known to many people in Newark, and always bore a spotless reputation. Her death will come as a great shock to many people in the city who were acquainted with her.

BROTHERS IN HOSPITAL.
Marysville, Dec. 31.—Benjamin Driscoll, aged 34, of Raymond, and his half brother, Otto Elliott, aged 23, were taken to Columbus yesterday, the former to the state hospital and the latter to the institution for feeble minded. Driscoll last Thursday after hearing a number of men discuss suicide in a store, went home and slashed his throat several times with suicidal intent.

GAS MAIN BURNING.
Piqua, Dec. 31.—With flames shooting high in the air, the gas main of the Miami Valley Gas and Fuel company, half way between here and Covington, has been burning since midnight, Sunday, when a terrific bolt of lightning struck and demol-

PROMINENT MEN DIFFER AS TO THE LID

JOSEPH W. FOLK, "ADVOCATE OF THE LID"

FRED A. BUSSE, "OPPONENT OF SUNDAY CLOSING"

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 31.—Laws that for years have lain dormant on the statute books are being enforced in St. Louis on Sundays, and Louisians who are prone to protest at the present Sunday laws are silenced when the situation in Kansas City and New York is pointed out to them. With few exceptions the St. Louisian finds Sunday as open a day as any of the other six.

The closing of saloons is probably the most stringent of the Sunday laws being enforced in the Missouri metropolis. Next to saloons comes the closing of barber shops and after that grocery stores and meat shops. No attempt has been made to close drug stores, candy stores and such places. The saloons are closed tightly all day Sunday, as are the barber shops, and the grocery and meat shops are compelled to close after 9 o'clock on Sunday mornings.

As an example of the sentiment of the Missouri lawmakers with regard to saloon regulation might be cited the law passed at the extra session of the legislature last April, and which is now in effect, compelling all drams to close at 1 o'clock in the morning during the week and remain closed until 5 o'clock. The saloons are now compelled to close all day Sundays and from 1 o'clock until 5 every morning. The Sunday lid goes on at midnight on Saturday and remains on until 5 o'clock Monday morning.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—Is Chicago to be dry on Sunday? The Chicago Law and Order league is doing its best to bring about this result, aided and abetted by the ministers of the city, and the various so called reform societies, and opposed to the utmost by the liquor interests, which, to put it mildly, are displeased and disgusted at the possibility of such hitherto fertile Sunday territory as Chicago proving a Sahara when there is so much liquid refreshment at hand.

Mayor Busse, scored repeatedly for his attitude of indifference, continues to say little upon the question. "The present city administration of Chicago is opposed to Sunday closing," he said on May 1 last, shortly after his election. "The administration is of the opinion that a majority of the people is opposed to it. I myself am opposed to Sunday closing."

So the Law and Order league and the temperance workers can hope for nothing save inactivity, if not real opposition, on the part of the city's chief executive.

"There has been no Sunday closing in Chicago for 30 years," says the mayor, "and while I am mayor the saloons will not be closed by me."

Asked if he would oppose or sanction attempts by other persons to close the saloons, the mayor said: "It is a subject to which I have not given any great attention, and I don't care to discuss it."

MASKED MEN ENTER HOME

Niles, O., Dec. 31.—Masked men entered the home of Ira Culp, bound and gagged Mrs. Culp and ransacked the house. Failing to get any valuables, they smashed the china and mirrors. Culp returned from work early this morning and found his wife unconscious.

DOGS ATTACK CHILD.

Columbus Grove, Dec. 31.—Two bulldogs, enraged at the appearance of the seven year old daughter of Mrs. Peter Sherrard of Leipsic, chewed the head of the little girl, inflicting five deep wounds.

WOMAN KILLED BY CAR.

Dayton, Dec. 31.—Mrs. Mary Cluett, aged 45, was killed by a freight car while crossing the Dayton and Xenia traction line.

BOMB EXPLODES WRECKS EXCHANGE

Rome, Dec. 31.—A dynamite bomb has partially wrecked the stock exchange here. The entire roof has fallen in. Eighteen wounded persons have been taken out. Many others are buried in the ruins. It is feared that many were killed in the explosion which rocked the city for many blocks. The bomb is supposed to have been thrown to prevent liquidation at the end of the month in the exchange.

BANKERS

BEGUN A MOVE TO OBTAIN FREEDOM.

Attorney General Sends Papers Asking Pardon of Man Confined for Making False Entries.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 31.—That an organized effort is under way on the part of the Ohio bankers confined in the Ohio penitentiary in Columbus to obtain their freedom is the belief of Federal officers here. The receipt by District Attorney John J. Sullivan on Monday of papers from the attorney general in Washington asking for the pardon of O. M. Burns, sent up for seven years June 16, 1905, for making false entries in the books of the First National bank of Montpelier, O., is declared the first move. The papers have been returned to Washington, and the district attorney admitted he expected to receive more papers from the others of the inhabitants of "bankers' row."

Mr. Sullivan said that Mr. Burns made the first move because of the circumstances of his case, in all probability. Burns made no defense, pleaded guilty and was sentenced. In his application he says he is in poor health; that his conduct has been good, and that he desires to return to his Montpelier home. Mr. Sullivan would not divulge what report he had made on the case, but said he had spent some hours in going over the testimony prepared for the trial. Federal Judge Taylor was given a copy of the application for his indorsement.

WILL LOSE HER SIGHT.

Delphos, Dec. 31.—Miss Maud Welby, aged 16 years, recently trimmed a corn and cut it too deep, causing it to bleed and blood poisoning set in. The swelling of the body and the pain was so severe that one of the young lady's eyes burst out of its socket. The other eye is in such condition that even should she recover she will be blind for life.

ILLEGAL SALE OF LIQUOR

The Charge and Dr. F. T. Lewis feits Bond—Fires Put Out at Glass Plant.

Utica, Dec. 31.—The trial of Dr. F. T. Lewis, arrested last Friday on a charge of keeping a place for the illegal sale of liquors was set for Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. Lewis at the time of his arrest was released on $300 bond, several friends signing the same. At the hearing this morning he failed to show up and the bond was declared forfeited. Dr. Lewis could not be found today, and it is thought that he has left the city. Prosecuting Attorney Fitzgibbon of Newark was present to prosecute the case on behalf of the state.

The fires of the Licking Glass plant were put out this morning because the men refused to work. There is a factional fight on in the union between the blowers and gatherers on the one hand and the flatterers and cutters on the other. It may be some time before the difficulty is settled.

MAYOR MCLEERY QUITS TUESDAY

WILL RESUME HIS PRACTICE AS A DENTIST AFTER HIS TERM EXPIRES.

Mayor-Elect Atherton Assumes the Reins of Government but Announces no Appointments.

Today sees the close of the administration of Mayor Samuel McCleery, who turns the robes of office over to Mayor-elect Herbert Atherton tomorrow morning.

He will immediately resume his dental practice at his old offices, Nos. 56 1-2 West Main street, and as Dr. McCleery is one of the best known dentists in the county, he will soon be able to take up his work where he left off to take up the reins of government.

Little need be said about Mayor Atherton, who was elected by such an overwhelming majority. There are few people in the city who do not know Mr. Atherton, and their choice for mayor for the coming two years shows the esteem in which he is held. His work as mayor of Newark several years ago is fresh in the minds of the people, and was the day they went to the polls and cast their votes that meant the largest majority ever given a candidate in the city of Newark. Mr. Atherton has made a statement as to his platform and he will stick to it to the letter. While some shake-ups will probably occur, yet up to the present time he has refused to say just who will be affected. The changes that will be made and the men who will retain their positions under him will do so because he does what he thinks is best for the interests of the growing city of Newark.

MASSACHUSETTS INDORSES TAFT

Boston, Dec. 31.—Secretary Taft left today for Millbury, where he will spend a few hours at the home of his dead mother and go to Washington tonight. Taft left Boston assured of the undivided support of the Massachusetts delegation at the Republican National convention.

There have been rumors that Crane was preparing to break with Senator Lodge who favors Taft and support Hughes, but influence was brought to bear direct from Washington, is said to have resulted in Crane sending out a tip to his friends to get aboard the Taft band wagon.

TWO BOYS LOSE LIVES.

Hamilton, Dec. 31.—Neal Hagan, 6 years old, went to the canal with several other boys. The wind tossed the hat of one of them into the water. Young Hagan tried to fish it out, but lost his balance and fell in. He was alive when rescued, but died before a doctor could reach him.

The body of a 14 year old lad, well dressed, was found yesterday morning at Busenbark's on the tracks of the C. H. & D. railroad. One arm and one leg was severed. He has not been identified.

EXPLOSION KILLS ENGINEER.
Dayton, Dec. 31.—Marion Wagon, engineer at a local plant, was killed yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a gasoline engine.

THE NEW HOFFMAN HOUSE MADISON SQUARE VIEW IN BRIDAL SUITE

Those persons who have been privileged to inspect the interior of the new Hoffman House declare that New York will be amazed when the splendors of the new hotel are revealed to the public on New Year's eve. The decorators and artists have finished their tasks, and when the doors are flung open today there will be added one more to the list of wonderful hotels for which New York is world famous.

From many parts of the country will come senators, judges, representatives, governors and other distinguished citizens to participate in the opening of the new part of the historic hotel. Almost as well known as any other place of the kind in the New World for nearly half a century the rendezvous of politicians and statesmen of national prominence—the new hotel will take rank

Keep Your Nerve---and Advertise

Calling on our merchants a few weeks since, we found they were nearly all very pessimistic about the outlook for Christmas trade. All seemed to feel that it would not come up to that of 1906.

We said to them: Keep your nerve—and advertise—and it will all come out right. They did; advertised largely; it was "standing room only" with all our papers, and the trade was all that could be asked.

Our banks kept their nerve — and advertised — and they weathered the little financial gale without the loss of the smallest dollar. However, Newark had no panic. A panic is a loss of confidence, and Newark people had confidence in our banks, and the banks in the people. Both banks and people deserve great credit for keeping their nerve.

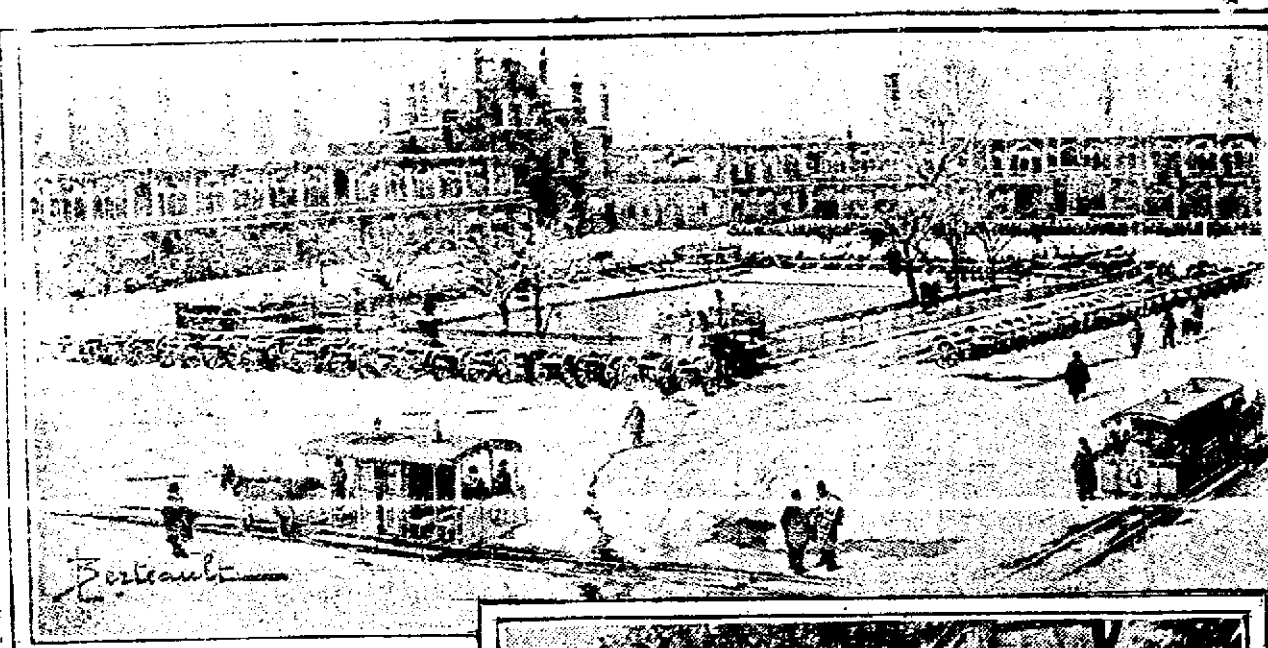

The Board of Trade is keeping its nerve—and advertising Newark. Good seed is being sown, all over the Central West, and will spring up and bring fruit in due season.

The Board of Trade congratulates Newark's business men on the good business of 1907, and sees no reason why that of 1908 should not be better. Keep your nerve — and advertise.

WHAT WILL THEY DO WITH NEWARK?

It is given out from New Castle, says the Ohio State Journal, that a six club league will be the result of the baseball pow-wow that will be held in Cleveland Tuesday with members of the national board having places on the judgment bench.

Eric, New Castle and Sharon are the Pennsylvania towns carded to go along with Akron, Youngstown, and Canton in Ohio. In case Canton should drop out of the Central Zanesville might beat Springfield to the vacancy.

It is understood that there is not a unanimity of opinion in Zanesville as to the advisability of that city going into the Central league. Some appear to have the idea—a very good one—that the town ought to be in a league with Newark, so that a spirit of friendly but keen rivalry could be worked up.

O. & P. WILL NOT INVADE COLUMBUS

President T. J. Bryce of the Columbus baseball club, returned from Chicago Monday night, where he had been attendance at the meeting of the American association.

Mr. Bryce in an interview stated that the association would ask to be permitted to place a club in Chicago, and it would be up to the national commission.

President Bryce further stated that no request was made by the O. and P. league to place a club in Columbus. The question came up merely as an incident to the request of a northern league that wanted to place clubs in the northwestern end of the circuit. It was argued that if this request was granted, no matter what the local conditions might be in the cities affected, it would make it impossible to deny such a request from the Central league, the O. and P. league or the Three-I league to invade Indianapolis, Columbus or Toledo. From the action of the magnates concerning the request of the northern league it can be stated positively that there will be no invasion of Columbus by an O. and P. or Central league team. That could come only under war conditions unless the O. and P. league should outlaw itself.

INFIELDER SIGNED BY LANCASTER

Secretary Will Gray of Lancaster received a signed contract Monday morning from J. M. Boehler, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., to play an infield position on the Lancaster ball team next season. Boehler is the player that Walter Justus recommended so highly last season. He is spoken of as a good man by others who have seen him play among the fast amateur teams around Cincinnati and southern Indiana.

Teheran, Dec. 30.—Sheik Fazlulla, who some months ago went to the Shah to protest against the constitution on the ground of it being against the principles of the Koran, went recently with a few hundred anti-constitutionalists to the Marvi Mosque. The Shah ordered troops to be sent to prevent any demonstration outside the mosque and to forbid the introduction of arms into the building.

A clash between troops and anti-constitutionalists took place outside the mosque and the Shah issued orders that if the disturbance was repeated the troops should drive out the people assembled in the mosque. A force of about one hundred selected Kasvins, mounted riflemen, entered the city for service as permanent guards at the Assembly building. A very imposing reception was given them.

The formal ceremony which is to mark the reconciliation of the Shah and the Assembly was postponed until Sunday.

Artillery Square, in Teheran, Persia, is where the assemblages of the anti-constitutionalists have taken place. The square is in the garden of the Assembly building.

happens a part of Friday will be taken up by the judge in placing the awards and visitors will be admitted during each day and evening, but no judging will be done in the evenings.

The quality of the stock entered is excellent and the Licking county exhibitors will have to set a rapid pace in order to cope with competition of outside parties.

The exhibit is well worth visiting, and will be open day and evening during the entire week.

POULTRY SHOW IS NOW OPEN AT THE ARMORY

MANY ENTRIES FROM VARIOUS POINTS HAVE ARRIVED FOR EXHIBITION.

The Fowls Are Most Excellent Specimens and Much Interest is Being Shown.

The stock entered in the big poultry show, is now all in the Armory hall, and has been well arranged by the superintendent, T. E. Adams, and the assistant superintendent, A. M. Claggett, and presents a very pleasing appearance.

While the number of birds is only about 100 in excess of last year, the quality is far ahead of any exhibit yet held by the Newark Poultry Association.

J. L. Todd, the expert judge, of Woodward, Iowa, will arrive in the city this evening, and judging will begin early Wednesday morning, and the committee will be kept very busy this evening and perhaps far into the night, weighing each specimen.

Persons not acquainted with the business end of a poultry show know little about the great amount of work in keeping the record in good order, as each bird must have a separate and complete record comprising many intricate duties.

In scoring the birds the judge names the variety, sex, number of entry, number of band on leg and number of coop. He gives the weight of the bird, after which he points out and cuts on defects from a basis of 100 points, on symmetry, size, condition, head, beak, eyes, comb, wattles and lobes, neck, back, breast, body, fluff, wings, tails, legs and toes, crest and beard. The severest cuts of defects are added and deducted from 100 per cent, the number remaining being the score of the bird. There are very few birds of any breed that score over 95 per cent.

THIS IS HIGH FOR CHICKENS

Talk about paying 24 cents a pound for poultry in the Newark markets, how would you like to pay $20 a pound for chickens. This is exactly what Mr. O. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match company of Akron, recently paid for ten fancy fowls, the combined weight of which was 100 pounds, and the total cost $2000. A New York paper, speaking of the recent poultry show in that city, says:

O. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match company, paid the record price for fancy chickens last week when he handed the representative of George W. Mitchell $2,000 for ten fowls.

The chickens looked like any other well groomed fowls, yet their merits brought $20 a pound.

There were two pens, each consisting of one rooster and four hens. They were white and partridge Cochins. The former is solid white in color, while the latter is red, penciled with black.

Mr. Barber has just erected at his country home in Akron, Ohio, a $15,000 poultry house to shelter his new purchases. The building is of cement with fences of the same material, with wire netting at the top. The finest of sod has been transplanted to the yards that these aristocratic fowls may always have grass. As Cochins have an unusual amount of feathering on their feet and legs it is important to keep them out of the mud.

Every known contrivance for the comfort of the fowls has been installed. The manager of the henry was sent to accompany the chickens from New York to their new Western home.

Cochins belong to a class known in chicken lore as the Asiatics, having originated in the Orient. They are one of the largest breeds of poultry and weigh about ten pounds each.

Remarkable Rescue.

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleeding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work." Guaranteed cure for coughs and colds. 50c. and $1.00 at F. D. EARLY HISTORY OF NEWARK

FOURTH OF JULY.

The first Fourth of July celebration held in Licking county within my remembrance was in the year 1820, in a beautiful hickory grove of some fifty acres belonging to Judge Wilson. This was the same year in which Benjamin Briggs arrived in Newark. Mr. Briggs was present and delivered several toasts, and afterwards published a full account of the celebration in the Advocate. To the great crowd assembled there, the occasion was entirely new. The Declaration of Independence was read in the old Presbyterian church by one Dr. Burnham. I am not aware that any oration was delivered. There was an old fashioned barbecue, an ox and several pigs being roasted whole and served up on a long table covered with a beautiful bower. The day was unusually fine, and together with the music of the drum and fife was highly enjoyed by the vast multitude. Quite a sensation was made by the appearance of ice on the table. The ice was furnished by William Stanbery, Esq., who was the first person that built an ice house in Newark. We may here add that this hickory grove was the farthest point to which the town people resorted at that time for the purpose of squirrel shooting.

THE JAIL OF 1815.

In reading the history of Licking county I discover no mention made of the second jail, which must have been built as early as 1815. This jail stood on the south-east corner of Second and Canal streets. It was a one-story hewed-log building, and was said to have been built by Jacob Little. It fronted on Second street and had four iron grated windows, two on the north and two on the south side. This jail was kept during its existence by Patrick Cunningham. It would appear strange that no attempt was ever made to break this jail, did we not remember that criminals were always heavily ironed. The jail was removed some time in 1820, and converted into a stable by Henry Shultz.

THEATRE.

Quite a respectable theatre was well-sustained in Newark for several successive winters. The members of this society were Calvin Warner, Joshua Madhot, Samuel English, Benjamin W. Brice, one Bliss, a silver-smith, and quite a number of others, whose names have escaped my memory. This theatre was held at one time in the upper story of the remarkable red painted building which we have before mentioned; at another time in the upper story of Leonard Goodrich's dwelling on East Main street.

THE NORTH FORK OF LICKING.

Up to the year 1825 the North Fork of Licking, as it passed through the present limits of Newark, was a remarkably clear, cold and beautiful stream. Many years since it has lost all these features in consequence of the diversion of a great volume of its waters into the canal feeder. Before the completion of the canal it abounded with quite a variety of excellent fish, among which were to be found several species of the sucker, the white, the black and the mullet; there was also the catfish, sunfish, bass, perch and pike. Fishing afforded pastime or employment to the community. Besides the ordinary modes of fishing, such as the single hook and line, the dipnet and seine, the three hooks and the wire snare were extensively used for the purpose of taking the sucker, numbers of which, and very large, abounded in the stream. Quite a number of experts at this kind of fishing resided in the town, among the most skillful of whom were Enoch, John and Job Miller. The principal resort for this kind of fishing was that beautiful lower bank stream just below the bridge. Here the fishermen might frequently be seen standing upon one end of a plank projecting far over the stream, the other end being made fast to the bank.

LIME.

Among the number of Licking county pioneers whose names are recorded in the history of the country, I have sought in vain for Martin Lincoln, one of the greatest benefactors to Newark and vicinity of which the town could boast. Martin Lincoln, bachelor, gentleman and scholar, came to Newark at a very early date—before my remembrance. His home during his residence in the town, which was several years ago, was with Abram Johnson's widow. According to the impression which I received from some source, he was a native of Connecticut. The occupation of Martin Lincoln was that of burning lime. His lime kiln was on the west bank of the North Fork, on the site of the Shield's factory. At this place he constructed a cave for the purpose of sleeping at night and retiring during stormy weather. He had secured himself that he could rise at any time of the night and replenish the fire. Martin Lincoln not only burnt the lime, but delivered it to all parts of the town with his cart and a yoke of very broad-horned oxen. After the retirement of Martin Lincoln from the lime business it was continued by Enoch Miller, up to the time of the completion of the Ohio canal. The lime was procured from what is called pebble limestone, dug from the creek bank and the streets. It was no easy matter to determine what was limestone simply by inspection. I remember seeing Miller testing the rock by striking it with a hammer. It emitted a sulphurous smell, it was pronounced lime.

CLIMATE, PRODUCTIONS, ETC.

Having created at some length of the appearance of Newark at an early day, we will proceed to make some remarks on the climate. We will premise by saying that at the early settlement of Licking county, the climate of Ohio, and of the western states generally, was materially different from that which we find at present. During the first settlement of the country no such excessive alternations of heat and cold, and drought prevailed as have been experienced for many years since. On the contrary, as is well known by all the early settlers, the winters were remarkably mild, so much so that cattle and swine found a good living with but little care from their owners. Spring began much earlier than at present, so that corn planting after the tenth of May was considered late. The summer seasons were by no means so excessively hot as they have been for years past. Autumn was a mild and pleasant season, frequently followed by a beautiful Indian summer. In short, the seasons were uniform. We heard of no such complaints as at present, of wet and drought and short crops. Wild fruits of every description were abundant. So uniform was the yield of acorns, beech and hickory nuts that farmers relied upon this crop to feed their swine. I find, whole herds of swine fed exclusively on nuts, were driven to the market. Cultivated fruit was also abundant, such as apples, pears, peaches, plums and cherries. For many successive years I remember no failure of the apple or peach crops, thousands of bushels yearly going to waste. Occasionally an enterprising farmer distilled his apples and peaches.

FARMING.

In the early days of Licking county farming was necessarily a tedious and laborious business. Being favored, however, with good seasons, the yield of grain and especially corn was even better than at present. Especial attention was paid to the raising of corn. Had corn commanded fifty cents or a dollar a bushel they could not have bestowed more labor in raising it. With the rude plow then in use they prepared the ground, and flurrowed it with the old single shovel plow. They planted by hand dropping and the hoe, and afterwards cultivated it well with the shovel plow. It was then laid by, as it was termed, by an effectual hoeing.

Farmers' boys were seldom seen in town, in fact, only on occasions of musters and shows. Their time was more profitably employed in tending corn; after that came the harvest which, according to the facilities then within reach, was no small affair. At the present time a sixteen-year-old boy can accomplish more in the harvest field in a day than ten men could at an earlier date.

By the rapid improvement in agricultural implements farming has become more child's play. Country people may be said to live in town. We see them daily swarming into town with their elegant buggies and splendid horses and harness, the ladies invading the millinery shops and the men the stores, returning home with groceries and goods of all descriptions which they are abundantly able to purchase from the sale of their farm products. The drugs of early times, such as butter, eggs and fowls, have long since become legal tenders at high prices. The farmer can at present meet the greater part of his current expenses from the sale of these articles, without encroaching upon the sale of his other products, such as grain, cattle and swine. For years past the export of butter, eggs, cheese and poultry is said to exceed in value that of wheat. In view of this state of things it follows that the farmer is essentially lord of the soil, and that agriculture is the most lucrative, honorable and independent employment in which mankind can engage. It is rather surprising that the men of the present day make no effort to secure the cheap lands, millions of acres of which are offered for sale all over the western country. It would seem, however, as a general remark, that they entertain the utmost aversion to agricultural pursuits, considering them degrading, and prefer to engage in other kinds of business, such as soliciting for books, papers and pamphlets, enlarging pictures, and a thousand and one things with which the community has long since been thoroughly surfeited. It is remarkable that we daily see stout, able-bodied young men engaged in these pursuits. It is true that all the learned professions, such as law, medicine, divinity, school teaching, as well as all mercantile pursuits, in fact, every species of business requiring a knowledge of letters is full of overflowing. Still, there remains the vast field of agriculture, as we before remarked, the most lucrative, independent and honorable in which mankind were ever employed. The days of the log cabin, the latch string, the hunting shirt, the moccasins, the barshire plow, the sickle, the scythe, the cradle and the fence-hewing hoe have been played out for nearly half a century. Now riding through the country in any direction beholds splendid and costly dwellings with highly ornamented yards, with all manner of elegant ornate and outbuildings, the choicest kinds of blooded stock horses, cattle, sheep and swine. The market, the school and the church have been brought to the farmer's door; his daughters are school and music teachers, and have their pianos, their elegant horses and buggies, and are the most profitable customers of the milliner and dress-maker.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. JOHN WILSON.
Laura Crawford was born November 14, 1853, and was united in marriage to John Wilson, April 6, 1878. To this union were born three children, Enos of Martinsburg, Harry and Lelia at home. She was an affectionate wife and mother. She was a kind neighbor and was respected by all who knew her. She made no profession, but has lived a Christian life. She had been a great sufferer for about two months, and the coming of the Death Angel on the evening of December 25, 1907, was a welcome relief. She was aged 54 years, one month and 11 days. She leaves a husband, three children, an aged mother, three brothers and three sisters and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn her seemingly early death, but what is their loss is her eternal gain.

Her remains were taken to the Eden church December 27, where the Rev. Mr. Walker conducted the funeral ceremony.

MRS. CARRIE McADAM.

The last number of the Cadiz, O., Sentinel, published an account of the recent death of Mrs. Carrie McAdam, wife of Rev. G. W. McAdam, who died in Chicago recently of nervous prostration. Mrs. McAdam was a resident of Newark about 40 years ago, when her husband, in connection with Mr. J. V. Lee, published the Newark America. Both Mr. and Mrs. McAdam will be pleasantly remembered by the remaining friends and acquaintances in this city of that period. The deceased was a lovely woman, of the highest Christian character, and of most engaging personality. Before her marriage she was Miss Carrie Hutton, a sister of Postmaster General Frank Hutton.

MRS. CATHERINE SCHILDBAUER.
Mrs. Catherine Schildbauer, widow of Adolph Schildbauer, aged 72 years, died at her home, 349 Buckingham street, at midnight Monday. Death resulted after an illness of six weeks of a complication of diseases relative to old age.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. D. Lyon, Mrs. Albert Daugherty, and one son, Mr. Herman Schildbauer, also one brother, Mr. Antoine Miller.

The funeral services will be held on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, at St. Francis de Sales church. Interment will be made in Mt. Calvary.

MRS. JEROME CURRY.

A. B. McDonald of Eleventh street, was called to Wooster, Saturday by the death of his sister, Mrs. Jerome Curry.

JOHN HORNER SR.

Joan Horner, Sr., was born Jan. 1, 1828, and died Dec. 28, 1907, within 7 days of being 80 years old.

May 1, 1856, he was married to Margaret Riley, to whom were born eight children. He is survived by six children and Mrs. Horner, with whom he celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on May 1, 1906.

The deceased was the father of Mr. J. H. Horner, the rising young attorney of this city, and was a soldier in the Civil War, serving in Co. H, 159th Regt., O. V. I.

He was of a kind and courteous disposition, always mindful of the feelings of others—a true husband and father, and will be sadly missed by those who knew him best.

Funeral services were conducted at his late residence, near Frazesburg, O., by Rev. H. Russell Clem, amid a large and sympathetic crowd of friends and neighbors.

HORNER FUNERAL HELD.

The funeral of John Horner, who died at his home four miles from Frazesburg, was held Monday. The burial was made in the Frazesburg cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

The parents and children of the late Mrs. Nora M. Smith desire to express their heartfelt thanks for the many kindnesses during her sickness and death, and especially to the Order of Macabees, of which the deceased was a member. A friend in need is a friend indeed. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Snyder and her children.

CARD OF THANKS.

The husband, parents and brothers and sisters, of Mrs. D. A. Banner, desire to return our sincere thanks to all those who extended their kindnesses and sympathy during her illness and death. Also for the many beautiful floral tributes.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE

IS ANNOUNCED AGAINST DAWES IN THE FIFTEENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Guernsey County Will Put Up James Joyce, a Prominent Attorney of Cambridge.

(Special.)

Cambridge, O., Dec. 31—There is a factional fight on here between the Republicans. James Joyce, a prominent attorney is a candidate against B. G. Dawes, congressman from the Fifteenth district.

Mr. Joyce was the representative from Guernsey when Hanna was candidate for his first term for the United States Senate, and he held up his election. He has many supporters and his name has been announced.

B. G. Dawes, who is a candidate for his third term, is supported by the administration forces, headed by Postmaster James R. Barz.

Judge J. H. Mackey is the leader of the Foraker faction in this section and the fight is on for the sending of delegates to the state convention, which will probably be held within three weeks. The Foraker forces are trying to have it convene right away.

It is well known that Dawes has aligned himself with the war secretary and many believe that if it were not for the sentiment against Dawes personally, the delegates from this county would be for Taft, but as the situation now stands the Foraker men have an equal chance of getting control of the county convention, which means the selection of delegates to the state convention favorable to the Senior senator.

General R. B. Brown of Muskingum county, has already been announced as a candidate against Mr. Dawes, and whichever way the wind blows, the Washington county man will know that he has been in a battle royal.

How to Measure Shrinkage in Cloth.

If you wish to find out just how much a piece of wash goods is going to shrink and do not want to wash it before making up, cut off a piece, a small sample, and, laying it upon a white surface mark around it with pen or pencil, then, after a thorough washing with soap, lay it in the same place on the surface marked. You will then have a definite knowledge of the amount of shrinkage.

How to Have Clear Lights.

To keep lights bright soak lamp wicks in vinegar before using them in a lamp. Wash smoke stained chimneys in warm water and soap and rub while wet with vinegar or dry salt. They can also be cleaned, as may be globes on gas fixtures, in warm water and soda and then in warm water and ammonia.

WHAT SHE MIGHT TELL.

"You mustn't tell people things like that, Doty. You talk entirely too much."
"Oh, mother, there's lots of things I could tell Mrs. Jones about you and father. That I don't!"
